

BEIJING QUALIFICATION STATUS

BEIJING OVERVIEW

The Winter Olympics take place in Beijing from the 4 - 20 February 2022.

With a vision of 'Joyful Rendezvous upon Pure Ice and Snow' Beijing 2022 plans to build on legacies of Beijing 2008. It will host 109 events in seven Olympic winter sports and will be held in the three competition zones of central Beijing, Yanqing and Zhangjiakou.

PREAMBLE AND SUMMARY STATUS

At the moment no athletes have qualified, with October/November 2021 expected to be when we will have more clarity around how many athletes we are tracking.

LUGE

ATHLETES TRACKING

Elsa Desmond, 6/8/1997, UK based. Competes in Singles.

Elsa Desmond	Singles	Qualification not started yet
--------------	---------	-------------------------------

Elsa is currently the only Irish Luge athlete competing internationally. She was introduced to sliding in Innsbruck, Austria, as a teenager, before quickly progressed to the World Cup circuit. Her hope is to one day compete in the Olympics. When she is not on the ice, Elsa has just completed her final year at medical school, training to be a doctor.

QUALIFICATION OUTLINE

Qualification for Beijing is based on the cumulative points of the Olympic season that runs from the 1 July 2021 to January 10th, 2022. Across all the disciplines a total of 106 quota spots are awarded, and in the 'Singles' category this equates to 36 spots. Each NOC can enter a max of three women, and the host team can enter too.

Quota places for short track will be determined by performance in four ISU World Cups held during Autumn 2021. The dates and venue for just one of them has been announced by the ISU - Beijing, China (21-24 October 2021) which will serve as a Beijing 2022 test event. From previous Olympic cycles, the three other World Cups are likely to be held prior to the one in Beijing (one other in East Asia and two in either Europe or North America), but we will not know for definite until the ISU confirms later this year.

Quota places per gender are earned by the NOCs based on the results achieved by the athletes from the four Special Olympic Qualification Classifications (SOQC) per gender, and from the SOQC of the Mixed Team Relay. Each SOQC is based on three best results out of four results over the respective distance achieved at the four ISU World Cup Short Track Competitions designated by the ISU that will be held between September and December 2021.

SPEED SKATING

Tara Donoghue continued to make history last season by becoming the first Irish speed skater to participate in the World Junior Speed Skating Championships. She also set a number of new Irish records and personal bests over the course of her competitive assignments.
