

TEAM IRELAND AT THE EUROPEAN GAMES

MEDIA GUIDE

MESSAGE TO ATHLETES

Congratulations on your selection to Team Ireland for the European Games 2023, in Krakow, Poland.

The Games bring together the best athletes from all over Europe and we have no doubt that you will represent Ireland with pride.

Thanks to you, your coaching team and your family, we look forward to supporting your ambitions.

Welcome to the Team!

INTRODUCTION

This year Team Ireland will compete in the third edition of the European Games, which take place in the Krakow-Małopolska region in Poland. The Games will be hosted across several cities and towns in the district and will feature 7000 athletes from 48 countries across Europe.

The event is run by the European Olympic Committees and will feature 29 sport disciplines in 25 locations in the event that will span 12 days from the 20th of June to the 2nd of July.

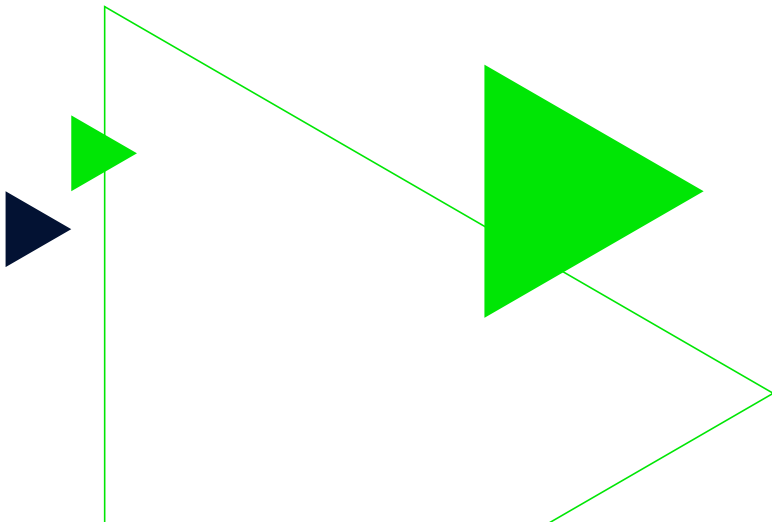

Over the course of the competition, the Olympic Federation of Ireland will field over 120 athletes in 17 sports, with many of the competitions serving as part of the Paris 2024 Olympic qualification journey. The programme also includes some new sports, which will be trialled with a view to featuring on future Games programmes.

RTÉ are the broadcasting rightsholders for the event, and over the course of the Games will feature the sporting endeavours across their channels. Photography agencies Sportsfile and Inpho Sports Photography will have photographers on the ground, while the Team Ireland Media Team will be providing daily updates from all of the Irish sporting action.

ARCHERY

MEDIA GUIDE: ARCHERY

OVERVIEW

Team Ireland will be represented in Archery at the European Games in Krakow by Emma Davis and Oskar Ronan. Both athletes will compete in the Recurve Individual events, which take place in the Plaszowianka Archery Park in Krakow City. Irish archers have been competing in the European Games since the inaugural event in Baku 2015.

Archery made its Olympic debut at the Games in Paris in 1900 but dropped off the programme until 1972. Since then, seven Irish athletes have competed in the Games, including 1996 Olympian, Keith Hanlon, who is the team manager for the Irish team in Krakow.

ATHLETICS

This is a European Team Championships, with Team Ireland sending a full delegation of 44 athletes. While athletics has been a part of the past two European Games programme, this is the first time that it features athletes across all three divisions, with 2254 athletes across 49 countries taking part.

Team Ireland will be competing in Division 3, with the main objective of the team being to gain enough points and strong enough performances to move into Division 2. A full athletics programme of action will feature, and it will be the first outing for the Athletics Ireland athletes under new sprint coach Christian Malcolm.

The third division features the following countries: Bosnia & Herzegovina, Malta, Montenegro, Georgia, Armenia, Andorra, Republic of North Macedonia, San Marino, Albania, AASSE (Athletic Association of Small States of Europe), Azerbaijan, Kosovo, Austria, Ireland, Israel.

Competition for the Division 3 events will take place in the first three days, with the medals being awarded to the overall top athletes across all divisions at the end of all competitions.

BADMINTON

OVERVIEW

This is a direct qualifier for Paris, as the results will be part of the Olympic ranking events. At the end of April 2024, the ranking closes, and qualification spots allocated. Team Ireland will be sending a full team to the European Games, including Nhat Nguyen, who is ranked fourth going into the event.

Ireland has achieved good success at the European Games in the past, with the Mixed Doubles of Chloe and Sam Magee winning bronze medals in both Baku 2015 and Minsk 2019. Joshua Magee, who is competing this year with Paul Reynolds, won a bronze medal in the Men's Doubles with his brother Sam in Baku 2015, Sam is now coaching the team.

BOXING

OVERVIEW

The European Games is a key event for Team Ireland, with 12 boxers competing, and direct qualification for the Paris Olympics coming from the event. Ireland is starting the competition as one of the highest-ranked countries. Boxing has accounted for more than 50% of the Irish medals at the Olympic Games, and contributed significantly to the medal haul at the European Games in Baku 2015 and Minsk 2019. While medals and podiums will be in the minds of the athletes, the key focus for the athletes and team will be to progress through the relevant round that will secure Paris Olympic qualification. The breakdown of how many athletes qualify from each category is below.

CANOE SLALOM

OVERVIEW

Ireland has entered a large team at this key event on the canoeing calendar, as it doubles as the European Championships, with a quota spot available for Paris 2024. While not being officially confirmed until the end of the World Championships 2023, an Olympic qualifying quota spot will be available for the best-placed European result that does not achieve a quota spot at the World Championships later in the year.

Tokyo Olympian Liam Jegou will compete in the C1 Canoe Slalom event, alongside Robert Hendrick and Jake Cochrane. The event involves an athlete kneeling in a closed cockpit while propelling the boat with a single-bladed paddle through narrow slalom gates on a big white water. The Team Ireland Canoe Slalom athletes regularly compete and train at the Kolna Sports Centre in Krakow, where the competition will take place.

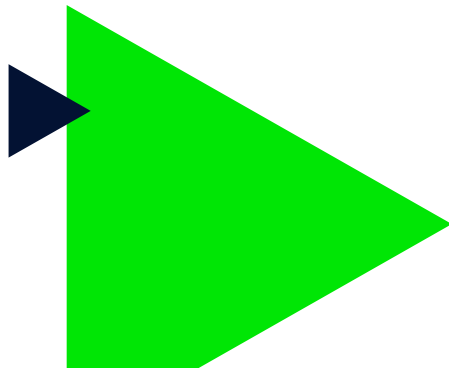

OFI Paris Scholarship recipient, Noel Hendrick, brother of Robert, competes in the K1 event, along with Alistair McCreery and Samuel Curtis. This kayaking event involves the athlete sitting on the boat with a double-bladed paddle.

Team Ireland will be represented by two female athletes in Canoe Slalom, Michaela Corcoran in the C1 event, and Madison Corcoran in the K1 event. The two sisters are the daughters of Team Ireland Olympian Mike Corcoran, who competed in Barcelona in 1992 and Atlanta in 1996 and has been a great supporter of the Irish canoeing team.

CANOE SPRINT

OVERVIEW

This is the European Championships in Canoe Sprint and is an Olympic qualifying event. Ireland will have one athlete competing in the Women's K1 500m and 200m events. Jenny Egan is the sole competitor to race in the Canoe Sprint, which runs from 22 – 24 June, Egan is going into the European Games as ranked world number one in the 5000m event, an event that is not on the programme in Krakow. The Lucan racer will be competing in the K1 200m and K1 500m events, both of which are on the Olympic programme. The Canoe Sprint takes place in Kryspinow Waterway in Krakow, not far from the Canoe Slalom course.

CYCLING BMX

OVERVIEW

The BMX takes place in a new skatepark in Krzeszowice, just outside Krakow, with the Freestyle event being hosted as part of the European Championships and qualification for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games. The contestants perform tricks which, depending on their level, are judged accordingly by the judges. The combinations of tricks are scored the highest, and in addition, the smoothness of the ride, the height of the tricks and the use of the skatepark are evaluated. This is the first time that we have a Team Ireland athlete competing in this event, targeting the Olympic Games.

Belfast BMX rider Ryan Henderson will be one of the first Irish athletes in action, competing in the BMX Freestyle event on the 21 – 22 June. Henderson impressed at last year’s European Championships when he became the first Irish athlete to compete in the event, finishing in tenth position. As a European Championships, this event is part of the Olympic Qualifying Series, with ranking points available for nations, and five quota places in Paris 2024 will be offered out of this qualifying series, per gender.

CYCLING MOUNTAIN BIKE

OVERVIEW

This is a European Championships event, with the discipline of cross-country (XCO) mountain biking taking place. Team Ireland will be represented by one male athlete, and the points earned will contribute to Olympic ranking points for athletes.

Chris Dawson, from Belfast, has enjoyed considerable success both offroad and in road cycling. He also represented Ireland in the UCI Cycling eSports World Championships earlier this year. The European Games will offer valuable ranking points for Dawson on his Olympic journey. The Mountain Bike course is outside Krakow City, in Krynica-Zdroj Hill Park, and takes place on the 25 June.

FENCING

OVERVIEW

Ireland has qualified four people in fencing, in the event that doubles up as the European Championships. The all-male team will compete across epee and sabre. The fencing events count towards Paris Olympic ranking and take place in the largest indoor arena in Poland. Also travelling to the European Games is Nuala McGarrity, Chair of Fencing Ireland, who is Treasurer of the European Fencing Confederation and President of the EFC Medical Commission.

The four-person fencing team will see athletes competing in the Men's Individual Sabre, the Men's Sabre Team, and the Men's Individual Epee events. Competition in these events begins with a group round in which 6-7 players fight to five hits. The maximum fighting time is 3 minutes, and this is followed by direct elimination rounds.

KICKBOXING

OVERVIEW

This is a new event for Team Ireland, with the sport recently added to the Olympic family, while not yet being on the Olympic programme. It is a sport in which Ireland is hugely successful, a team of nine athletes have qualified, all internationally decorated with world and European medals. They were the first athletes to achieve European Games qualification and hold significant medal hopes for the team in Krakow. Ireland's Roy Baker is also the President of the International Federation WAKO, and will also be present.

PADEL

OVERVIEW

This is the first ever inclusion of Padel in not only the European Games, but in an Olympic event. Team Ireland has qualified both a men's double and a women's double in what is one of mainland Europe's fastest growing sports. It is officially recognised by the IOC and is a very young Irish federation who compete internationally.

The sport combines elements of tennis and squash, and in Spain is the second most popular sport after soccer. It is always played as a team, and matches are similar to tennis, played to the best of three sets. Unlike tennis the ball isn't thrown over the head to serve, it is bounced, but not hit above the waist. The serve can go to any area of the opponent's square, but can never hit the side fence after the bounce.

RUGBY SEVENS

Played in the same stadium as the opening ceremony, the Rugby Sevens is one of the priority sports for Team Ireland, with direct qualification for Paris 2024 offered in the European Games. While the Women’s Rugby Sevens team secured Olympic qualification last month, this tournament poses a really good opportunity for the men to qualify, with the winning nation qualifying for the Paris Olympic Games, the loser will go to the repechage. The men’s team in Krakow will be boosted by the inclusion of Terry Kennedy, who has not been competing with them for the past few tournaments. GB will be the main opponent for the men’s team.

SHOOTING

At the European Games in Krakow, two Team Ireland shooters will be in action, contesting the Clay Target events. Aoife Gormally will be competing in her second European Games in Trap Women, while Jack Fairclough will be making his European Games debut in the Skeet Men. The venue for the Games is the Wroclaw Shooting Centre, in Wroclaw, which is 270km from Krakow City.

As a sport, shooting will be the longest running sport on the European Games programme, with Irish competition focused on the 24 – 25 June (Fairclough), and the 29 – 30 June (Gormally). Trap is a single target, going away from the shooter at acute angles and heights, with two shots per target. Targets are voice activated with immediate, but random release from a computerised control box and travel 76m. Skeet is a regulated mix of single and double targets, crossing left to right and right to left in front of the shooter, with one shot per target.

From Ashbourne, Co. Meath, Gormally has been competing at the world level since 2015 and finished 7th in the 2021 European Championships. Fairclough, while living in Manchester, has roots in Greystones, Co. Wicklow. He has been competing on the world level since 2014.

Olympic qualification spots will be awarded to the winner of both Skeet Men and Trap Women.

TAEKWONDO

OVERVIEW

Team Ireland has qualified two places in Taekwondo for the European Games, an event that holds crucial ranking points for athletes for Paris 2024. In Taekwondo all rounds take place in one day, in knockout events.

Tokyo 2020 Olympian Jack Woolley will compete in the -58kg category, with Leroy Nsilu Dilandu competing in the -74kg event. The two Tallaght athletes have enjoyed podium success in recent months, at GPs around Europe.

Taekwondo takes place in the Krynica-Zdroj Arena approximately 140km from Krakow City. The Men's -58kg (Woolley) will be taking place on the 23rd of June, and the Men's -74kg (Nsilu Dilandu) on the 25th of June. This event is a key one for the Irish athletes, with Olympic ranking points on the line for the athletes.

Woolley made his Olympic debut at the Tokyo 2020 Games, becoming the first Irish Taekwondo athlete to become an Olympian. He is joined by his former sparring partner, Nsilu Dilandu, who played an important role in the lead-up to the Games. Over the past number of years, 21-year-old Nsilu Dilandu has been making a mark in the -74kg event on the international stage.

TRIATHLON

Team Ireland is set to field a full team across the Triathlon events at the European Games in Krakow this summer. Tokyo Olympian Carolyn Hayes as well as Erin McConnell will compete in the Women’s Individual event, with in-form James Edgar and Luke McCarron competing in the Men’s Individual race. Ireland will also compete in the Mixed Relay for the first time.

The Games run from the 20th of June to the 2nd of July, with Triathlon taking place in the Nowa Huta Lake and its surroundings in Krakow City. All athletes will compete in the individual races on the 27th and 28th of June, before the Mixed Relay competition on the 1st of July. This event holds Olympic ranking points for qualification for next year’s Olympic Games in Paris.
